

Critical Matters

Critical matters call for dependability. Doctors, nurses, patients, and loved ones all need the assurance everything will be running smoothly 24/7/365. Yaskawa can provide you with the urgent care you need for every drive challenge. Quality product. Easy programming. Quick order turnaround. A drive you can start up easily and never worry about. That's what Yaskawa delivers for its customers.

Our Z1000, for example, is a variable frequency drive that is specifically designed for building automation applications such as fans, pumps, chillers, and cooling towers through 500 hp. Available in bypass or redundant drive configurations, the Z1000 can be counted on for reliable, continuous operation when HVAC is needed most. The Z1000 is perfect for building automation applications that require reliable motor control.
